Workers Prevent Salt Lake Dam Collapse

MEN TOIL TO SAVE HOMES FROM FLOOD

SALT LAKE CITY, May 21.—Hundreds of workers who had toiled throughout the day, to prevent collapse of the Pleasant Valley dam near Castlegate tonight appeared to be winning their fight.

The 60 foot structure, after the developing leaks, which threatened to flood the town of Castlegate, Hepler and Colton, had been reinforced by tons of filling materials and was still holding back the impounded waters.

Meanwhile an overflow tunnel was put into operation and the pressure behind the dam was being reduced.

More than 3000 men, women and children of three central Utah towns were camped on Mountaintops late today as water rushed through a break in the tip of the dam, threatening collapse of the structure.

Officials of the D. & R. G. Western were advised at 3:45 p. m. that the pressure of the waters appeared to be lessening and the reservoir was still standing.

The representative of the railroad said some experienced hope that the structure might yet weather the pounding of the water.

Two hundred workmen were sent to the scene of the threatened collapse by the D. & R. G. this afternoon and began dumping filler material into the reservoir in an effort to plug the leak.

Apparently this procedure was lessening the leakage, for a message to the Utah Fuel company late in the day said that the dam could be saved.

Paving Of 23rd Street Ordered By Council

Under an amended petition filed with the council last evening, Twenty-third street south, will be improved, and City Engineer E. A. Hoffman was instructed to prepare plans and specification for the work.

The improved roadway will be forty feet in width instead of fifty two feet, and the paving will consist of a broken rock cushion of four inches, four inches of asphaltic concrete with a two inch wearing surface.

As a committee from the council to work with the local chapter, Mayor Pro-Tem Black appointed Councilmen W. W. Scott, Dr. A. B. Hinkley and A. L. Paulsen. The matter was brought to the attention of the council in a communication from George A. Rader, division chief of the disaster division of the Red Cross, stating that it was necessary that some organization always be prepared to act in case of disaster.

Councilman Scott said he had talked with Rader about the matter, and he thought it was a good proposition and moved its adoption.

KEY SYSTEM DEFICIT SET AT $52,708

A loss of $52,708 was sustained during the month of April by the Key System Transit company, according to figures released yesterday. This is $21,161 greater than the deficit for April, 1927.

The income report for the month of April, 1928, compared with April 1927, shows a decrease in gross operating revenue of $32,813. Operating expenses decreased $39,501, which is due to a decrease in the repairs and maintenance of properties and a reduction of transportation costs. Taxes increased $1955 and non-operating income decreased $2718. Sundry charges, which are made up almost entirely of depreciation, increased $14,555. With adjustments for the year 1927 made, it will increase the charge for April 1927, so that the increase in sundry charges for April, 1928, will be approximately $3000 instead of $14,000. The balance from current operations for the month of April, 1928, was $51,256, which is a decrease of $12,641, as compared with April (Continued on Page Eight)

Vessel Cuts Two Masts to Clear Bridge

Although the greatest battle-ships afloat can pass under Carquinez bridge in safety, the span proved too low to permit the British oil tanker Florentino to pass underneath, making it necessary for six feet of the mast to be sawed off.

Under command of Captain Bate the San Florentino came up the bay to the Shell docks to take on a cargo of fuel oil for a foreign port. The great tanker, coming without ballast and riding high in the water, found it impossible to pass under the highway span at Crockett. Almost certain that his ship would pass under the span at low tide, Captain Bate dropped anchor near the entrance to Mare Island channel and waited for the tide to lower his ship just as the same outgoing tide assisted in raising the bridge spans.

But the two towering masts of the San Florentino were yet too high and it was necessary to send men aloft with saws and tackle to cut off about six feet of the very tips of the masts to permit the ship passing under the bridge at low tide.

The San Florentino completed taking on her fuel oil cargo and then dropped down the bay to Nevada Docks while Captain Bate played safe and awaited another low tide to be certain of clearing the bridge in the swift Carquinez straits current.

Marine and bridge engineers are not worrying, however, for fear of repetition of such a happening for the San Florentino, built years ago, is said to be the only oil tanker of its particular design ever built and it continues to be an "only child."

Condemnation Of Building Will Be Decided By Board

During the coming week the building inspector and the fire chief will determine whether what is known as the old "Bart Keane" property on Forty-seventh street in the Stege district is a nuisance, and should be condemned.

35,000 SEE CHAMP WIN FAST BOUT

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y.—May 21.—Outfighting his challenger through a fast 15 round bout before 35,000 spectators at the Polo Grounds tonight, Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., proved himself a worthy lightweight champion by winning the judges' verdict over Jimmy McLarnin of Ireland and points west.

The champion closed McLarnin's left eye and had the little Irish lad's face a mass of blood, leaving the ring himself without a mark despite the persistent attack which the westerner kept up from start to finish.

In a measure Mandell vindicated himself in the eyes of those who had criticized his elusiveness since he won the championship from Rocky Kansas in Chicago a couple of years ago.

Jimmy's sheer aggressiveness and tendency to overconfidence, on Mandell's part turned the tide in the fifth and sixth sessions, which McLarnin won. After that, however, the challenger did not win a round. He fought Sammy toe to toe with honors even in the ninth and again in the thirteenth. But Mandell by that time was so far ahead on points that he was toying with his challenger.

Senate Puts O. K. On Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The senate tonight passed the $203,000,000 federal tax reduction bill without a record vote after more than three weeks of debate. Before passing the measure the senate considered the Simmons amendment fixing a graduated tax ranging from 5 to 9 percent on corporation income of less than $50,000 and defeated it 34 to 33. Vice-President Dawes casting the deciding vote.

The amendment had previously been adopted while the senate was acting as a committee. Chairman Smoot of the finance committee asked for a reconsideration upon which the vote was reversed.

The senate bill and house bill which calls for a $289,000,000 tax reduction now goes to conference for adjustment of differences. As a result the president is expected to receive the tax bill for his signature within a week.

CAR CRASHES INTO ENGINE OF SANTA FE

Two men had a miraculous escape from death beneath the wheels of a Santa Fe train when the machine in which they were riding crashed into engine No. 309 at the San Pablo avenue crossing at 7:30 last night.

Police believe that J. W. Fredlander, Los Angeles, driver of the car, failed to notice the approaching train until it reached the crossing. Ellis of San Francisco, were injured.

SAFETY IN THE AIR

He has demonstrated his control over airplanes and tricky elements by a series of performances unmarred by a serious accident.

His skill is reflected in a financial way, for he carries a blanket insurance policy of $100,000 covering any plane in which he flies.

Not a single penny has been claimed on the policy.

That is a big point to remember in reading of the occasional crashes of aviators, with death or injury to themselves and large property damage to the planes.

The difference between Lindy and the unfortunate ones is a difference of care.

Care in preparation of the plane and its equipment.

Care in the physical welfare of the aviator himself.

Care in training and in flying.

Almost without exception every accident can be traced to failure in one of these respects.

If a machine dives suddenly and cracks up before it can be got under control, there has been failure to fly properly.

If a pilot becomes faint or dizzy and permits his it can be got under control, there has been failure to keep the body at high efficiency pitch.

Co-ordination—the perfect synchronization of the mind and muscle—or the ability to think and act simultaneously, is also symbolical of perfection in flying.

Lindy has made this part of himself by concentration on the task in hand.

Flying has been proved thoroughly safe for those who make it safe.

Dame Nature certainly pulled an error when she distributed the vitamins. Why couldn't she have put the vitamins she placed in spinach and carrots into ice cream or pumpkin pie?

Women's clothing is now being sold very largely on the installment plan and judging from what we can see on the street we are inclined to believe that most of the ladies wear only the first installment.

If dentistry keeps on progressing it won't be long until they will begin pulling baby's teeth as soon as they peep through the gums.

Of course a desolate island off the coast of Labrador isn't a very pleasant place to make a landing, but when you are traveling in an airplane and run out of gas almost any old port ought to look pretty good.

Beauty Queen Held

"What will mother say?"

An answer to this question was about all that seemed to bother Mrs. Vivian Page, 21, who as "Miss Mobile" took third prize in the 1928 Atlantic City beauty contest when she was held without bail in New York Court.

The former Vivian McDowell was arrested as a fugitive from justice, being wanted in Media, Pa., where she is alleged to have set fire to a six-family apartment house on May 9.

"Of course, I didn't and I know I can prove my innocence," Mrs. Page, who claims to be a graduate of Alabama University, said. "The only thing that worries me is how upset my mother, who is in New Orleans, will be about this."

Affairs of the Heart and Your Marriage Problems

Patricia Lee

Patricia Lee answers questions relating to problems of married life. Names and address should be added to letters as a mark of good faith but will not be published. Readers who desire private answers should enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of typing, etc. Because of space limitations it is not possible to print answers to all letters received, and readers who wish an early reply should take advantage of this special service. On account of the large quantity of mail coming to this department, about ten days should be allowed for a reply. Write to Patricia Lee, care of this paper.

Dear Patricia Lee:

I have been married eighteen years and am the mother of twelve children. Six of them are dead; the oldest living child is 14 and youngest 2. I have worked very hard trying to help my husband to keep the house and children together. Once I had to take him to court for non-support, and he never gave me a cent more since. My husband only gives me $19 a week, and he makes $22 a week. Out of that I have to pay the rent, which is $32 a month, and all the household expenses. My husband says I do not know how to handle the money, and he wants to count every penny I spend. I am not saint, and I get cross when he asks me about every penny. I don't have two or three pounds of meat on the table he says that I am not giving him much to eat. But the children and I eat gravy and potatoes, and pease and rice. The people I work for give me clothes, and I cut them down and make dresses for the children. If I am at fault would you kindly speak plainly because I am trying to live a Christian life.—ADELLA.

Dear Adella—

I think any woman that has had twelve children is not alone a Christian; she's a martyr. No, my dear, you are not at fault; but I do think you are making a mistake in not showing your husband just exactly how you spend the money. If you put it up to him to work out the expenses with you every week he would soon appreciate how wonderfully you manage when you feed and clothe eight people on $19 a week. You are having the hardest time right now. In a few years the children will be old enough to help the family budget. So try to adjust yourself as peacefully as you can and make your husband realize that you are doing wonders with the money you get.

Q. When individual side dishes are served with a meat order should one eat from the side dishes?

A. If the small dishes contain about one helping of vegetables eat from them; if more, take a portion from the dish with a serving spoon and put in on your plate.

Q. Is it correct for a girl to send her employer a birthday card if the employer is a man?

A. No. Better leave the personal element out of business.

How To Earn Money!

I am a widow, 36 years old, have two children, 7 and 12 years old to support. I have no business experience. I am an expert rider, but have been told that academics do not employ women. Do you think I would have a chance to get a position as counsellor at a girl's camp—MRS. M. D.

I am sure you have a splendid opportunity to get this position at some of the more expensive camps. Of course you will have to apply personally for such a job, and I would suggest that you make a list of the camps advertised and interview the owners. Get in touch with the Y. W. C. A. too.

I am an artist, and do really good work in oils and pastels. I specialize in flowers and in still life. I have sold my work in many American cities, but here I find difficulty in disposing of my work. E. W.

There is so little demand for painting if the artist is not well known, that I hardly think it is worth the time and effort you put into them. Have you ever thought of commercializing your art? Advertising has become such a large and highly specialized factor in the world today that many of our best artists find it gives them room for unlimited expression. Try to place some of your work with the advertising agencies.

Vigorous Health

In books which treat of disease there will be found listed a great variety of skin diseases. Each one is named according to its particular manifestations, and since there is almost an infinite variety of skin eruptions there is almost an infinite variety of skin diseases.

There may be macules, papules, pustules, blebs, wheals, cracks, fissures, overgrowths of various kinds.

Medical treatment which is directed toward symptoms has a different treatment for almost all these different manifestations.

However, as a matter of fact, there are only two kinds of skin diseases—constitutional and parasitic. The first is due to wrong habits of living and the second to the same with the addition of a parasitic infection. Both, therefore, require constitutional treatment, but the parasitic infections will also require the use of a local antiseptic. All constitutional skin diseases are treated practically the same by natural methods, variations being more for the sake of individual personal peculiarities rather than differences in the skin symptoms.

The first necessity is to cleanse the system by fasting, a fruit diet or a vegetable broth diet. After this if the weight is under normal the milk diet is generally employed, otherwise a largely raw fruit and vegetable diet is used. Exercise, deep breathing and plenty of sleep are always employed and sun baths nearly always. Until these measures are used one need not expect complete results.

I have a bad habit which I find it very difficult to overcome. Please tell me where I could go for treatment where the price is very reasonable.—DISCOURAGED

A bad habit does not require treatment but education. When you understand about it and about yourself there will be no difficulty in overcoming it. Personal supervision of your education might cost you considerable money. Would suggest that you secure Mr. MacFadden's book, "Manhood and Marriage." GLORIOUS BETSY

NOVELIZED BY
ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"GLORIOUS BETSY," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

SYNOPSIS
The bewitching Betsy Patterson has been staying with her father at Sweet Springs Inn when "they are called home to Baltimore" entertain Captain Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon. While at the inn she is secretly attracted to her French "tutor," whom she knows as La Vert. French officers, however, who visit him, address him derisively as Captain Bonaparte. When La Vert declines to accompany Betsy to Baltimore she is piqued and insults him. Elaborate preparations are under way at the Patterson home. While the guests are waiting for Bonaparte, Betsy steals into the rose arbor. Suddenly she is confronted by La Vert.

Betsy made no resistance to his movements but her words were intentionally sarcastic. "I can't see why you should think that interests me," she answered. "Or why you presume—"

But Jerome, alias the tutor, caught her hand. "Ah, Mistress Betsy, I know it is madness," he said, though his heart still held hope, "my coming here, like this. But I had to see you alone. I had to know—to beg your forgiveness—I had to ask you if you have thought of me at all during these endless days and nights, since I saw you last. Now have you, dear? Have you?" He caressed the immobile hand that lay in his.

"Why should I think of you, Monsieur La Vert?" Betsy protested. "Oh, no—no!" Betsy snatched at the cloak and held the man fast. "No—please! Come back! Come back! I love you! I love you! I don't care what you are—what you've done! I love you!"

She was crying—laughing, but she was closely enfolded in the big cape, and two arms held her very tight; two lips kissed her head, her eyes, her mouth, and she whispered "Betsy, over and over again, as though the very name held some magic charm. And the "Glorious Betsy," the coquette, the self-confident little flirt, was shutting both eyes and clinging happily and with no shade of pretense, to the man she loved.

But their happiness was short lived, for at that moment voices pierced the garden; the arrival of guests was announced.

"Oh, go—go!" Betsy pushed her "tutor" away and tried to straighten her hair. "Someone is coming," she whispered frantically.

But Jerome still clung to her. "No—I cannot go, Betty. I will not leave you—not now—not yet." He drew her tenderly back into the concealing shadows of the arbor.

"In here we shall be alone, and I can come!" He kissed her again and again. And with an abandon, foreign to the nature of her past tiny love affairs, Betsy returned the caresses.

Now they found a bench, tucked away in the arbor, and Jerome pulled Betsy down beside him and clasped her slender figure tightly against his big cape. For a long time they sat, both silent, lost in the contemplation of the very wonderment of their own happiness.

The roses leaned lovingly from their trellis and scattered the most fragrant of perfumes; the spring air, here and there a star twinkled and winked through the tiny apertures left by the thickly clustered flowers. They could hear, now and again, the faint voice of "Betsy's father" calling, but it seemed away into the night as though it had never been.

"Isn't it wonderful?" Betsy finally sighed, adjusting a curl on her forehead. "What you and I should have found one another?"

"Wonderful!" Jerome exclaimed, stopping long enough to kiss the curl that Mistress Betsy had just settled. "It is too wonderful. I could never believe that it happened."

"There, now," Betsy panted, but not at all in anger. "You've disarranged my hair again. She twisted the spiral about your fingers. But I mean," she continued, trying to be very grave and grown up, "that if I hadn't gone to the Springs this year, I shouldn't have met you, and then my life afterwards I should have what I wanted."

"Dearest," Jerome sighed, and once more encircled the girl's waist with his arm, "you shall never regret it."

They both sighed again, and once more fell into their happy lethargy, clinging to each other as though they feared instantaneous separation.

"And just fancy," Betsy breathed, looking up at Jerome and touching his cheek in a caress with her fingertips. "I didn't think you cared. I told everyone that I hated you—even Mary!" And when she brought me your letter tonight—

"Tonight?" Jerome exclaimed. "But I sent it to you two days ago. 'Yes, dear, I know,' Betty, hugging her head in shame, 'but I had told Mary never to speak your name to me again, and she was afraid to give me the note. But tonight, I don't know just why—she gave it me, and then I—"

"She paused and turned away, as expressing contrition for her past actions and her infamy."

"Oh, I do not know what I am saying," Jerome assured quickly,

SCHOOL NURSE SAYS ALL GIRLS SHOULD KNOW THIS

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking Nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

EXPERTS TELLS CORRECT LIGHT BY LISTENING

To gauge light correctly—to analyze it down to its infinitesimal differences in shade and density—the expert does not look at it at all. Instead, he listens to it.

This is the strange method by which light was gauged for some of the sensational camera effects in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular film of the Russian Anna Karenina, now at the California Theatre, some of the most delicate light effects ever put on the screen. In the colorful production, in which John Gilbert and Greta Garbo head a notable cast.

In working out these effects a microphone, somewhat similar to a radio instrument, was used to catch the light rays, transformed them into broken vibrations, which gave out sound according to their velocity. Thus each note meant a different quality of light and this microscopic differences in shade were detected in the tests.

Light filtered by these tests, was recorded on a special film for the special effects in the new picture.

Gilbert plays Count Vronsky and Miss Garbo the role of the tragic Anna in the new picture, directed by Edmund Goulding, with a remarkable cast. It is a spectacular picture of life in the Russian world. Gorgeous uniforms and costumes and all the romance of Russia's most interesting period form a background for the romance of "Anna Karenina" and her desperate sacrifice for love, together with the sinister fate that thereafter dogged her happiness.

The cast is notable, including George Pawett, Brandon Hurst, Philippe De Lary, Emily Fitzroy, and many others of note. Among the notable scenes are the great reception in the Kremlin, the thrilling military maneuvers, the desperate sleigh ride in the snows, and other thrilling incidents.

This is the first appearance of Gilbert and Miss Garbo together since their sensational hit in "Flesh and the Devil."

Other film features include "I Told You So" Topics, and cartoon "Sealing Whacks" and "Lindbergh's Anniversary Film."

LOCKING THE STABLE DOOR after the horse is stolen!

The shocking number of deaths from fire each year in the United States has started a nation-wide campaign to enforce fire laws. One of the most flagrant violations was revealed recently in New York when two women were burned to death in a blaze which gutted apartment house shown above at left. With no means of escape, the helpless women perished in room marked by a cross. After investigation by authorities fire escapes were placed on front of the building as shown on right. Tragedies like this are always imminent in the thousands of fire traps in the large cities of the United States.

The largest crowd of the season saw the City of San Pablo baseball defeat the Pon Honor team of Oakland in the opening contest Sunday of the Maxwell Inter-County league. Tickets Placed On Sale For San Pablo, Sannies

One thousand tickets for the contest Sunday between the Richmond Sannies and San Pablo, a benefit contest for the Boy Scout drive, have been placed on sale as interest in the coming clash continues to mount.

A side bet of $100 has been placed to increase interest in the game and to keep the opposing clans on their toes, although natural rivalry is great enough in itself to presage a hotly contested game.

Carmen Trounce Oakland Outfit

Crashing out a total of 19 safe blows, the Richmond Carmen went on a rampage in Oakland Sunday, trouncing the Mergentha Box company outfit by a margin of 14 to 2. Ensign went the full route for the local club, hurling a good game and getting four hits out of five trips to the plate.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

HE DIDN'T WANT THE BASEBALL SCORES

Bill Duffy, Sheriff Lester Patterson and Arthur Brown were a Times Square one evening and the newsboys were hawking their wares. "Got a late sporting extra there, sonny!" asked Bill. The kid nodded: "Late baseball scores and seventh race, mister."

Bugs Baer, who once told Frank Gerety that he would never wear golf knickers within the city limits, now openly disports himself in plus-fours. Jimmy Hussey lies about his scores like a veteran. Charlie Mescon begrudges the matinee that prevents a round.

Broadway has gone batty and likes it. Instead of cutting paper dolls the boys are cutting divots and occasionally replacing them.

KEARNS CABLED LOW-DOWN TO HAGEN
I ran into Jock Kearns one night in a Western Union office. He was hunched over a pad of blanks and thoughtfully chewing on the stub of a pencil.

"What's the matter, Doc?" was the natural query. Kearns shook his head. "I'm sending a cablegram to my pal, Walter Hagen and I was wondering if he'd get peeved if I reminded him to take turf with his iron shots. I think that's what's the matter with his game right now."

I can picture Mr. Kearns' amazement on the eve of the Hudkins-Mickey Walker fight in Chicago if he got a wire from Walter Hagen telling him what to do in Mickey's corner. Yet golfers rush in where angels fear to tread.

The other day we played a round at Mike Brady's Winged Foot course at Mamaroneck, N. Y., with Jimmy Elliott, the play producer. "How's your game, Mike?" Lahiff asked Brady. "Not so good right now," replied the noted professional. "I've been sick for a while and I'm not hitting the shots well."

Lahiff patted him encouragingly on the back:—"Just keep that left arm tucked in next to your body on the backswing and THAT will straighten you out."

And I defy you to find any golfer, regardless of what he scores, who can't sit down and tell even the professional how the countfounded racket SHOULD be played.

THEY ONLY REMEMBER ONE BEST SCORE
Another peculiar feature of the game is that golfers only remember their very best score.

Once upon a time, Lou Clayton, the hooper, or George Olsen, the bandmaster, or Tex Rickard, the promoter, or Bobby Crawford, the melody magnate, may have scored an 84.

Years later when they are not able to crack a hundred, if you ask them what they play in they will tell you in all earnestness that "84 is my regular game."

Bill Seeman played with us at Saratoga last summer. Lou Davis asked him what he shot. "About 86," said Billy. So Lou took him for his partner against Rickard and Bill Duffy.

Seeman shot a 133. "I thought you told me you shot about 86," stormed Lou.

Seeman nodded seriously:—"That's right, but you didn't ask me WHEN I shot it." He had scored an 86 all right, but it had been in 1925 and had been made on the first nine holes.

HEENEY HAS NEVER PLAYED
Tom Heeneey, the New Zealand heavyweight is one of the very few headline fighters who doesn't play golf. His favorite sport is swimming. On the trip here aboard the Leviathan, Heeneey was in the pool every day.

Salt water swimming is not considered good for a fighter and when Heeneey's camp is selected by Charlie Harvey and John Mortimer, it is probable that it will be pitched far from salt water and salt air.

HORSE-PLAY!---

THOROUGHBRED, worth many millions of dollars, the most valued of which have not been to the post this year, have been transferred to Belmont Park, where the season opened on Thursday. Although the day was dark and cloudy, with showers, a banner crowd attended, among whom was the cream of society. More than 2,500 horses, of various ages and classes awaited the bugle.

LOCAL GIRL IS HOLDER OF NEW SWIM TITLE

Winning the 220-yard free style swim for girls Sunday afternoon at Idora Park, Frances Perricone, Richmond, established a new Pacific Association record for junior girl swimmers with a mark of 3:17 2-5.

The race for second place was closely contested, with Edna Konovaloff, Fleischacker club, finally winning. Mary Jackson of the same club finished third.

Drive Starts To Prevent "Kidnapping" Of Fawns

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Starting the drive to prevent the "kidnapping" of fawns, the Fish and Game division has begun a campaign to prevent the "poor little half starved abandoned babies."

The Fish and Game Division this year expects to arrest all those who pick up fawns. They seldom live in captivity and when seen by those who feel that something must be done, should be left where they are. In case the person is worried, he or she should carefully mark the spot and make a report as soon as possible to the nearest fish and game deputy, who will see that the fawns are returned to the motor if lost, or cared for in the remote instances where the mother may have been killed.

The fawns taken from Guisla are being carefully attended at Tassajara Hot Springs under the supervision of Deputy Post. Depast Newsome recently arrested another offender for the same violation and the case is pending before Judge Ray Baugh of Monterey, who has assured the department that he will work in perfect harmony with them in their effort made to stop this practice.

Streams In Santa Cruz County To Be Closed To Anglers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—All of the trout waters of Santa Cruz County will be closed to anglers from August 1 to May 1 during this and ensuing years until the order is rescinded, by an order issued by Fred G. Stevenson, Director of the Department of Natural Resources, and approved by Governor C. C. Young.

These waters have been ordered closed following recommendations of the sportsmen's organizations in Santa Cruz County and with the approval of the Department of Fish Culture of the Division of Fish and Game.

The purpose of this move is to afford greater protection to the small fry during the late season months when the water is low, with the hope of improving fishing conditions during the spring and early summer in coastal streams where there is a sea run of steelhead trout.

The order is issued by authority vested in the Director of Natural Resources by the action of the California Legislature at its last session. It is in line with the extensive program of conservation and protection of trout in various waters of the state, now being carried on by the Division of Fish and Game, Eugene D. Bennett, Executive officer and attorney for the division, declares.

EL CERRITO COUNCIL PLANS LARGER POLICE FORCE, CUTS WAGES OF TRAFFIC OFFICERS

A substantial saving in expenditures for the police department and at the same time providing additional protection, will be afforded people of El Cerrito as the result of a recommendation accepted by the El Cerrito council last night from Police Commissioner J. R. Beck.

Beck's recommendation provides for an examination to be taken for the positions of three traffic officers, instead of two now employed, on May 25, with appointments to be made the following Monday. On June 1 the successful applicants will commence their duties.

Two of the officers will be compelled to ride motorcycles and will receive a salary of $150 per month with $30 per month allowance for upkeep and the third officer will use an automobile on the night shift from 11 o'clock to 7 a. m. at a salary of $150 and an upkeep allowance of $50 per month. The officer using the automobile will patrol the entire city as well as San Pablo avenue.

The examination will be conducted by Mayor Phil A. Lee, Police Commissioner J. R. Beck and an outside officer.

J. F. Walsh and Wesley Zimmerman, present members of the force, are now receiving $250 a month, and will probably take the examination. If successful passing the tests they will return to work at reduced salaries as provided in the commissioner's recommendation. Floyd Gilbert, temporarily employed, will also enter the competition.

A. Brown, Amador street, reported that there was a vicious dog in his neighborhood and asked the council to have the dog taken away.

The matter was referred to Chief of Police Forrest Wright, who stated that the court ordered the dog of Mr. Poole to be muzzled when allowed to run loose and that he would see that the courts' instructions were followed out.

W. J. McLaughlin reported to the council that the premises of the West Coast Wrecking Co. at Wall and San Pablo avenues, were a fire and health menace and that they should be cleaned up.

Mayor Phil A. Lee appointed Councilman Charles Zimmerman, Building Inspector O. A. Wood and Police Chief Forrest Wright to investigate the property and have the condition remedied.

Petition of the residents of the Villa Nova tract, for the repairing of Pomona street between Curry and Lind avenue was referred to Street Commissioner Peter Larsen and Street Superintendent Forest Wright for one week.

Request of R. Andrews that the council repair the street in front of his property at Fall street and San Pablo avenue, was referred to Street Commissioner Peter Larsen and Forest Wright.

Forrest Wright, street superintendent, reported that he had made a survey of the streets in the city improved during the last four years and found them to be in very good condition with the exception of Pomona street and the need of repairing three culverts in the Cerrito Park tract.

No action was taken by the council on the report.

City Treasurer Mrs. Cora J. M. Simonson reported the balance on hand May 1, in the following funds: Fire Bond fund $6,418.92; Motor Vehicle fund, $13,835.75 and General Fund of $12,571.43.

Street Commissioner Peter Larsen reported that the investigation of the feasibility of placing a fourtala and rest room at the intersection of Galvin Drive and Stockton avenue, but had found that the part of the street suggested by the residents would be paved when the street improvement was completed so no action was taken by the council.

Soft drink permits were granted Charles Sandretti, Lennox and San Pablo, and Albert Sherman, Refund Market, on the recommendation of Chief of Police Forrest Wright.

Engineer Ross L. Calfee reported that he had arranged a meeting between the officials of the Great Western Power Co. and the city to be held this evening on the removing of the guide wires of the company poles in front of the service station at Fink Lane and San Pablo avenue.

Request of Police Judge J. F. Plank to have a buzzer installed in his office to use in calling him to the telephone as it greatly inconvenienced the city clerk, was granted.

Water Commissioner Ernest O'Brien was instructed to investigate the request, made to Plumbing Inspector Frank Blomberg, by H. W. Stockdale, 1133 Lincoln avenue that he had been unable to get water service from the East Bay Water Co.

Street Superintendent Forest Wright was granted permission by the council to hire a team and mower for two days to cut the weeds down along the sidewalks on San Pablo avenue.

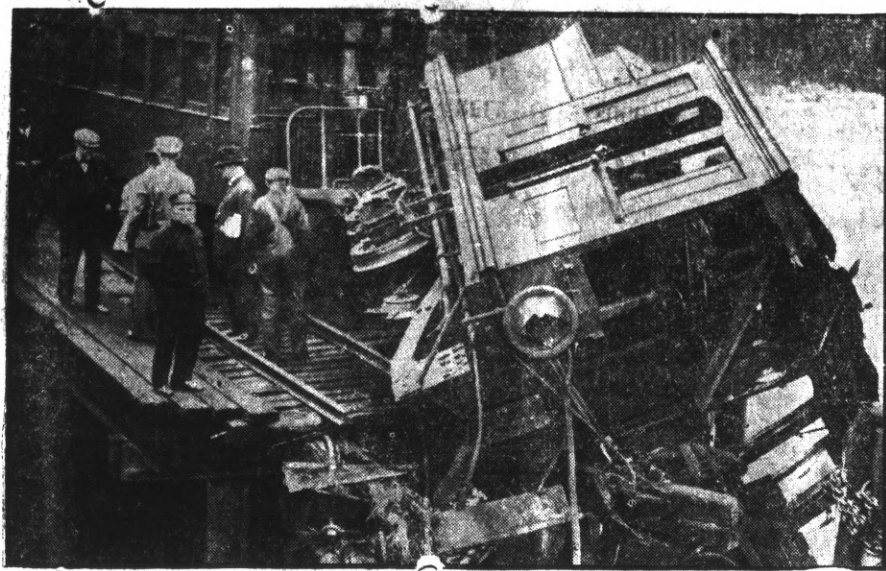

City Attorney J. H. Peters reported to the council that he would arrange for a meeting between W. A. Hinds, former city police judge, Attorney T. Johnston and the auditor for the city, Grace Moses and the council some time this week to go over reports of the city's auditor and Hinds' auditor, which show an alleged difference of approximately $790 in shortage.

Mayor Phil Lee stated that he wanted the meeting held this week so the discrepancies in the reports could be settled and the matter cleared up.

Complaint of W. D. Stark, that he had received discourteous treatment from City Clerk Alice Morris when he asked to copy a city document in her possession was defended by the city clerk, who stated that she did not have to take any impudence off of Mr. Stark, who wanted to remove the records into another part of the building to copy the document.

Mayor Phil A. Lee said that all persons wanting to see or copy documents should be treated with courtesy, but that the clerk is responsible for the records and should be present when documents are being used.

Pastor Here May Accept Post In L. A.

Rev. Earl W. Haney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Richmond, has received a call from the Eagle Rock Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, considered one of the most desirable pulpits in the southern part of the state.

The call came as a distinct surprise to Rev. Haney and while he has made no definite decision as yet, announcement of his acceptance of the new post will in all probability be made some time this week. The offer was made to him in recognition of the work he has accomplished here in Richmond during the more than three years he has occupied the pulpit.

The pastorate of the Eagle Rock church is regarded as an advancement since the church services that district of Los Angeles adjacent to Occidental college. It possesses a well equipped church plant and a corps of active workers.

Support Of Local Clubs Sought For "Clean Up"

"The homeowners and others occupying houses in Richmond can be of distinctive service to the community if they will rid their yards and attics of rubbish, old rags, old papers, tin cans and other trash," said City Manager McVittie. "Everyone likes cleanliness and cleanliness should begin in the home. It is yet too early to burn off the grass in the vacant lots but each of us can clean up our own yards. Those who have planned a little spring painting should do it next week. But the main thing is to get rid of the rubbish—the accumulation of old papers, boxes and rags which are potential fire hazards. Then, too, if the folks will clean the weeds from their gardens and along the curbsides, it will make a fine impression on the visitor to Richmond."

To bring the message direct to Richmond households, the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with other organizations, will get out a printed pamphlet calling attention to "Clean Up Campaign" and asking everyone to aid in the work during the coming week. These pamphlets will be distributed from house to house by the Boy Scouts of Richmond, whose support and cooperation were pledged by Scout Executive Robert Cox.

The Scouts will not be asked to do the "cleaning" but will spread the good word to every Richmond home. The pamphlets will be ready for distribution the latter part of the week.

Meanwhile every Richmond citizen is urged to talk "Clean Up" campaign and to make a survey of their own premises and then plan to get rid of all rubbish, weeds and old papers that accumulate in yards and attics.

Veterans To Plan Memorial Day Fete

The Veterans Allied Council will hold a special meeting on Wednesday evening, at 7 p. m. sharp at Memorial Hall. All arrangements will be made at that time for Memorial Day. All organizations intending to take part in the parade are invited to have a representative present.
